Using An Economist To Maximize Your Case

COURSE CLASSIFICATION: INTERMEDIATE LEVEL

Live Audio Webcast Presentation: Wednesday, January 11, 2017

12:00 noon – 1:30 p.m. E.T.

Course No. 2226R

Whether you represent injured workers or employer/carriers, using an economist as an expert can potentially increase your settlement or mitigate exposure on your case. This seminar will include need-to-know information from Brian Wells of Raffa Consulting Economists who will address topics to include present value determinations which will be particularly useful given the recent economic changes affecting present value. Other topics of interest will include effectively using an expert at attorney fee hearings and potential "Daubert" objections to economic evidence pertaining to attorney fees. Insightful tips and tactics will be provided in terms of valuing catastrophic cases as well. In the workers' compensation arena, the use of an expert economist is often overlooked. Don't pass up the opportunity to learn how using an economist can further your case
